GoRead

GoRead is an app we use at school as a student reading record which allows teachers to set books for students to read as well as reward students for reading regularly both in school and at home.

Parents and teachers are able to work together to keep track of where a student is up to with a book and how many books they are reading. Teachers can set reading bands which help them understand where a student's reading level is up to and where they may need some help improving.

When a student has completed a book they are awarded with "Gems" which can be used to buy cards on GoRead. They work as an incentive to keep students reading academically and just for fun. These cards are sort of like top trumps that students can challenge each other with in "Card Challenges".

There are a couple guides for GoRead below this button which offer some further guidance on using the app.
